

Jody Knapp - supporting statements and declaration of interests

I wish to be a forward thinking voice of NIMH. I tend to not dwell on the past but find solutions to focus on improvements and the future, driven by positivity and passion for our industry. I am currently a Clinic Supervisor and Lecturer on the BSc (Hons) Clinical Herbalism degree at Lincoln College, which fuels my passion in graduate outcomes, supporting and guiding students into their careers within herbal medicine, a vital area for NIMH to support.

I can bring business experience to the role of director due to running businesses for the past 16 years, gaining knowledge of regulations, laws and policies particularly relating to self employment but also premises. This combined with my work in herbal medicine education brings a wealth of skills to council.

I also run my private practice in Rutland and have a specific interest in supporting rural communities.
